SECTION A - SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION
September 27th, 2006

Amendment 0008

This Amendment is to:

1. Add Attachment 036 "Revised Change Scenario". Replace all references to Attachment 030 with Attachment. Due to the questions recieved regarding the scenario, we have revised the change scenario to address those questions. Please utilize Attachment 036 as a replacement for Attachment 030. Any additional questions to the Revised Change Scenario must be submitted before close of business Monday October 2, 2006.

2. Delete Transportation clause

FAR Clause 47.305-5, Destination Unknown, is the prescribing clause for FAR Clause 52.247-50, No Evaluation of Transportation Costs. This clause is normally associated with the transportation costs assumed by the Government when delivering supplies in an FOB Origin environment. Therefore, to that extent, transportation costs would not be evaluated as the clause is not applicable to this service requirement. However, under a service contract, there will be transportation costs associated with providing the services (for example, the cost of getting personnel, equipment and supplies into the AO) . Those costs are partial and part of providing the services and should be included in the costing of the approach being proposed under the solicitation. As a result FAR Clause 52.247-50 will be deleted.

3. In section B, add Attachment 036 as a reference to CLIN 0004.

4. Reemphasize the importance of adhering to the solicitation requirements, particularly with regard to the following areas:
IMPERATIVE - To ensure compliance with the solicitation when preparing the cost/price proposal for the second submittal (program office and change scenario), offerors are strongly advised to adhere closely to solicitation requirements. These requirements are detailed and specific, and compliance at both the prime and sub-contract levels is required. The offeror's attention is directed in particular to the following areas in Section L, Cost/Price :

The intent of the language below is not to change the language of Section L, it is simply provided to help identify areas that may be otherwise overlooked.

- a. Electronic spreadsheets (offeror and major subcontractors) must contain all working formulas and algorithms, and calculate proposed costs. Cost formats and and any supporting spreadsheets should link (by cell calculation) to higher level formats and spreadsheets.
- b. Offerors and their major subcontractors must provide cost/price information in specified formats, along with identified support data and explanations. Specific support data is identified for each cost format.
- c. In addition, the offeror is reminded to address in the cost/price proposal, all insurance and worker's compensation requirements IAW various sections of the solicitation.
- d. Offerors must address additional elements of costs (i.e., any R&R, Overtime, Pay differential, retention bonuses). If incorporated, these items should be explained in both text and figures.
- e. Each element of cost shall be documented completely to show the basis and rationale used in arriving at the amount proposed.
- f. The Technical volume and the Cost volume must be consistent in regards to proposed resources. Failure to identify reasonable costs for subcontractor efforts concomitant with the responsibilities identified for that subcontractor in the Technical volume may adversely impact the offeror's technical rating.

5. In section L, Cost/Price, Refer to Amended Language 0004, on page 2 of 4, 2nd paragraph under "2. In Section L":
For clarification, the language "No fee should be proposed or included in the cost formats for either scenario." should apply to the prime contractors proposal only.

8. In section L, Cost/Price, page 96 of 102, Specific Instructions, Part 2:

Reference the sentence:

The proposal responding to the change scenario should include costs associated with the proposed change (whether adds or deletes), along with clear delineation of the changes made from the initial proposals to the final resultant proposal. For clarity, the above language should be interpreted to mean that offerors and major subcontractors should include in their
